Music is invaluable to the performance world. For every genre of music there is a style of dance and the right equipment will enhance and improve both the performers and the audience's enjoyment of it.

Dance is born from music and is at the very core of performance. What many people do not know is that in order to play recorded music in a studio, theatre or hall a licence is required by law. From as little as 16p a day a licence is easy to obtain with different tariffs that cater for a variety of venues and uses.

One PPL Licence gives you access to millions of songs.

PPL is a not for profit music service company which licenses recorded music on behalf of 3,400 record companies and 38,000 performers in the UK. PPL collects domestic and international revenues from UK television and radio, digital and online media as well as public performance income from every kind of business including gyms, rehearsal rooms and dance studios.
